

Teammates

We are all swimming hard as we support the myriad of actions within our area of responsibility.

Want to take a minute to highlight a recent capability you have with respect to our new Air Force Integrated Personnel and Pay System (AFIPPS).

In January, as a current uniformed MilPDS user, you received early access to your Air Force Integrated Personnel and Pay System (AFIPPS) Read Only Self-Service (ROSS) screens. This is part of a larger total force AFIPPS Phase One release we plan to roll out in June. It is imperative you understand what our Airmen/Guardians will soon have access to, and come to our community for help in resolving inaccurate data. As such, the next time you are in MilPDS, we ask you take a few minutes to review your ROSS screens:

- Select 'US Air Force Employee Self-Service' role (change hat, lower portion of roles list)
- View your read-only record
- Understand what will soon be released to the total force
- Verify your own information for accuracy
- If errors are found, follow the current process to correct those errors

You – our HR Professionals – serve as the gatekeepers of personnel data and prove essential in change management for AFIPPS transition. Your assistance in helping our Airmen and Guardians validate and correct data in the system now will increase the functionality of AFIPPS Phase Two release in 2022, when it is deployed for operations in our Air Force.

Questions/comments – please ask the AFIPPS OCM inbox at A1DTA.AFIPPS.OCM@us.af.mil.

v/r

BRIAN A. HINSVARK, Colonel, USAF
AFIPPS FMO